A big issue in 1928 was farm relief. This year it will be everything.

Add similar: As credulous as anyone who believes in alienist's testimony.

Congressional economy consists principally in cutting out items in the economy bill.

People spend more for candy than for books. Thereby taking fewer chances on being swindled.

Who pick on the short sellers? Anybody who can sell at all those days should be commended.

An ominous cloud on the national horizon is the threat that Congress may go back for a summer session.

We read that a certain radio station never took a singing lesson in its life. We suspect there are others.

Our confidence may have been a little shy in scientific economics, but they didn't pile up any billion-dollar deficits.

In view of the coming radio campaign oratory it is rather fortunate that reception is not so good in summer.

A New York woman's club is sponsoring the Empire Eugenics hall so we can get into the act by this time.

An exchange of letters of a widow who had so much trouble with lawsuits in settling the estate that she sometimes wished her husband hadn't died.

A ministers' association recommends that preachers be as the mother when a baby is born. It'll need them when the floor-walking begins.

WIFES SOLD AT PROFIT

For the present generation, perhaps, the U.S. North, which had before the Civil War a great many negroes in the South, other negroes as slaves, some interesting facts concerning the subject are found in P. L. Goodwin Woodson's book, "Free Negro Families of the South."

He shows that all but about 1,000 negroes in the South were free in the country were free, some of them rich, owning large plantations and other valuable property.

In 1810, there were 200 slaves in Louisiana owned 200 slaves, in Louisiana four negroes owned respectively 91, 59, and 47 slaves. Most of them, however, were in the South, in being estimated that 40,000 negroes owned nearly 100,000 slaves.

The story is told of a Charles negro who married a female slave owned by a neighbor and brought her to wife. Later, when she had failed to behave herself as he thought proper, he sold her at a profit of $50.

STAMPS 85 YEARS OLD

It is, perhaps, not generally known that United States postage stamps have been in use only 85 years, but such is the case. The first issue of United States stamps consisted of only two denominations, the 5-cent issue on half-cent.

RATS DIE

so do mice, once they eat rat RIDDANCE. And they die rats. Not a mouse a distance exceeding 300 miles.

The 5-cent stamp bore the portrait of Benjamin Franklin, our first postmaster general, and bore the portrait of Washington, and were first issued 1837, although a few postmasters had issued a few postage stamps of their own previously for about two years previously.

The very first adhesive postage stamp was introduced in England in 1840, the example being quickly followed by other nations.

The first issue of postage stamp in 1837 would seem very insignificant in volume compared with the output of the present year, which is estimated to be not less than 18 billion, requiring 1,000,000 pieces of paper, 575 tons of gum and 1,000,000 pounds of ink.

But man has figured out how much energy and motion it will take to stick them where they will perform their duty.

WHY MORE FARM LAND?

It would be natural to assume that the acreage situation that there is too much land under cultivation in this country already. The Secretary of Agriculture, a recent report of his, indicates that our present cultivated acreage by 30 or 40 million acres.

In spite of this situation, which we see the government spending hundreds of millions of dollars in an attempt to limit production, a vast new area of farmland through irrigation. Numerous other irrigation projects have been built by the government for this purpose.

There is no reason for Congress to spend some 400 million dollars on the Columbia Basin irrigation scheme whereby about a million and a quarter acres more could be made available for farm purposes.

While these things are going on, the Farm Board is spending half billion dollars in a futile attempt to handle the surplus farm crops already on hand. And all the taxpayers, including the farmers, are paying the bill for these losses.

With all the money that has been poured into the irrigation schemes so far, we have been able to acquire a pitch to which it has never been before used, and we hope that this great amount of public expenditure may find concrete expression in a stern determination to put an end once and for all to waste, wantonness and immorality for criminals.

It is a simple statement of fact that the irrigation scheme has been a public bid to punish the farmer.

There should be no reason for the farmer to be served, will recognized by all unbiased men. The federal government should leave all economic activities to private enterprise."

FARMER JONES AND HIS COW PEN

BY W. M. BRUNSON

I wish to give my identification again and also to give you a line-up of my family and my neighbors. My name is Farmer Jones, my wife is Sallie, my ten-year-old son is Tom, and we have a one-year-old daughter who is Sue. We live out in the country about six miles from town where we operate a two-horse farm. We sent out one horse farm to a white tenant by the name of John Skermer, who farms the land for us and we have had a negro family working with us by the month and the name of the man is Sambo. He will tell you all about it when he comes to town. We own our farm, except that we mortgaged it to the First National Bank here in Elba for it is worth $10,000. We have a house and all our livestock when it closed, but Sallie has paid that mortgage off with her chicken money and we have the mortgages in our name.

These are four of us in our family and we are just as poor as any poor folks can be. We have plenty of everything we need, but we have nothing more to bring on our present occasion than any other one thing. Every man should be trained to do his best for his country, but I should rely on another for his support. Who fixed it so no man could furnish dozens of others? I believe in the spirit of saving, but why? Who fixed it so no man could furnish dozens of others? I believe in the spirit of saving, but why? Who fixed it so no man could furnish dozens of others? I believe in the spirit of saving, but why? Who fixed it so no man could furnish dozens of others? I believe in the spirit of saving, but why?

The meeting was opened with a song—"How Like We Are." Mrs. M. C. Dixson sang.

The meeting was turned into a social. Delightful punch was served to all present.

Mr. J. H. Phillips Passed Away Mon. At Almshouse

Mr. J. H. Phillips, well known in the county and formerly of the Bradshaw community, died at the County Almshouse on Monday afternoon about one o'clock after several weeks illness. Mr. Phillips had made coffee for his home for many years although he was not able to work for 15 or 20 years. He was 63 years of age, and leaves his wife, Mrs. Callie Phillips, and one son, L. N. Phillips.

This year citizens should find a strong argument for making such minor repairs and adjustments as are necessary to keep their homes in good condition. Millions of unemployed throughout the country would make it easy for them to find work if they would make a little effort. It was disastrous to our interest.

The farmer has been touted and decried until there is not very much left to say. Mr. Phillips

Mrs. O. M. Gordon and Mrs. L. H. Jeter of Brewton visited Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Brooks last week.

This year citizens should find a strong argument for making such minor repairs and adjustments as are necessary to keep their homes in good condition. Millions of unemployed throughout the country would make it easy for them to find work if they would make a little effort. It was disastrous to our interest.

The farmer has been touted and decried until there is not very much left to say. Mr. Phillips had made coffee for his home for many years although he was not able to work for 15 or 20 years.

He was 63 years of age, and leaves his wife, Mrs. Callie Phillips, and one son, L. N. Phillips.

Funeral services were held

Tuesday morning at Bradshaw

Church being conducted by Rev. L. N. Phillips. The body was laid to rest in the church cemetery, with Rhodes Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mr. L. C. Cooper is visiting her.

Attorney J. C. Fleming was in Dothan the first of the week attending Circuit Court.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Blocker of Andalusia visited relatives in Elba Sunday.

Mrs. Barney Cole and son, Harry, and Miss Margaret Ham of Opp were visitors to Elba Sunday.

Misses Nel Brock and Louise Tucker visited friends in Enterprise Tuesday.

Miss Nettye Flournoy has returned from a pleasant visit to friends in Troy.

Miss Hilda Stephens of Opp was the weekend guest of Mrs. C. P. Hayes.

Mr. T. H. Deardorff is recovering the class with a vacation party.
